JFK Intervenes In Strike

Flight Engineers Vote On Returning to Jobs

NEW YORK (AP) — Flight engineers whose strike has entangled the nation in its worst airline tieup in history announced their decision today on whether they will bow to a return-to-work plea from President Kennedy.

The Flight Engineers International Association began polling its 3,500 members Tuesday night after Kennedy set up a three-member commission and asked the engineers to end their walk-out while it studied the dispute.

The commission's powers will be only advisory, and there was pessimism among union leaders that the strikers would return to work.

The six-day-old wildcat strike has closed three of the nation's biggest passenger lines and has all but shut down three others. More than a half million passengers have been inconvenienced.

Eastern, American and Trans World all have ceased operation. Pan American, National and Western are maintaining only token service.

Losses in revenue by the six airlines are estimated at more than $5 million a day. More than 84,000 employees of the struck airlines have been laid off.

At Los Angeles, Western Airlines fired its 130 striking engineers and said they would be replaced by pilots as soon as the latter could be trained to handle the duties.

Kennedy's appeal was made through Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who said the airlines had promised there would be no disciplinary action against the strikers.

The commission, which is to report to the President within 90 days, consists of three professors — Nathan Feinsinger of the University of Wisconsin, chairman; Richard Lester of Princeton and J. Keith Mann of Stanford.

Ronald A. Brown, president of the Flight Engineers' Association, said the crux of the situation is whether the findings of the commission would supersede a decision by the National Mediation Board that touched off the strike.

That decision ordered members of the union and the Air Line Pilots' Association at United Air

House Passes Wetzel's Bill

Area Legislators Have Busy Day

By DUANE E. CROFT

Salem News Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS — The Ohio House passed Tuesday afternoon a bill co-sponsored by Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel, R-Columbiana, to permit strip mine operators to deposit their reclamation bonds in banks.

Approved by a vote of 128-6, the bill would allow the operators to give the Division of Reclamation a Certificate of deposit in place of cash or other security. The bond equals $220 per acre to be stripped.

Wetzel said the bill would allow an operator to draw interest on his bond while simultaneously protecting the state's interest in reclamation of stripped land. The bill now goes to the senate for hearings.

Wetzel and Rep. J. Warren Bettis, R-Columbiana, introduced three bills.

One would raise the ceiling on the pay provided for bailiffs who also serve as court assignment commissioners. The additional salary allowed for the assignment duties would be upped from $2,100 to $3,300 a year.

Would Sell Old School Lands

The other two bills would authorize the state to sell old school lands in Townships to present leaseholders, a 21-acre tract to Harry Rhoads Jr. and a 62-acre tract to the Salem Hunting Club.

Sen. Arthur Blake, D-Martins Ferry, dropped three bills into the legislative hopper, two of them dealing with the workmen's compensation law.

One co-sponsored by Sen. Charles J. Carney, D-Youngstown, would bring all permanently and totally disabled recipients up to the current $49 weekly benefit. It applies primarily to about 3,500 disability cases which date back over years when the benefits were much lower. A bill passed in 1959 provided a special fund for raising them to $40.25, the regular benefit in effect before the last session raised it to $49.

The sponsors said the special

Asks Cooperation With U.N.

U.S. Urges Belgian Action on Katanga

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States is reported urging Belgium to pressure defiant President Moise Tshombe to bring Katanga Province into a federation of Congo states that would cooperate with the U.N. Congo force.

Informed sources said the United States also is pressing Belgium to keep her nationals from going to Katanga as mercenaries soldiers for the army in Katanga Province, which Tshombe proclaimed an independent state last summer soon after the Congo won independence.

Tshombe Tuesday ordered all able-bodied persons in Katanga mobilized to oppose any effort to put into effect in his province the new Security Council resolution authorizing the United Nations to use force if necessary to prevent civil war. Tshombe's Belgian-officered army continued an offensive against rebel Baluba tribesmen in north Katanga.

Tshombe also rejected the Security Council's demand that Belgian military and political advisers quit the Congo. Such an exodus would strip his administration and army of key men. Tshombe said the Belgians would stay even if the Brussels government ordered them home.

However, in Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, many Belgians indicated they would listen to orders from Brussels.

Informants said Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld told his advisory committee on the Congo that he would ask Belgium to get Belgian military and political advisers out of the Congo in accordance with the resolution.

In Brussels Tuesday a spokesman for the Belgian Foreign Ministry said the Congolese authorities—not Belgium—had called in the Belgian military and political advisers and the Brussels government could not intervene. The spokesman said it was up to

4 Crewmen Are Killed In B47 Crash

HORSE CAVE, Ky. (AP) — Wreckage of an Air Force B47 today lay strewn like tinsel over a nearby farm. The plane blew to bits as it spiraled to earth after a midair refueling mishap.

Only the navigator survived of the five Strategic Air Command crewmen aboard Tuesday night. He bailed out at 7,000 feet and landed in a tree, breaking his left arm.

Unaware of any trouble, the KC97 tanker that had been refueling the six-jet plane at 15,000 feet returned safely to base at Columbus, Ohio.

Officials at Lockbourne Air Force Base there said the B47 carried no nuclear or other bombs, but was outfitted with electronic gear to disrupt enemy radar.

The Air Force identified the victims as:

Capt. William E. Gillespie, 40, plane commander; Lt. Edward P. Shuller, 23, Copilot; Capt. George R. McKemey, 28, instructor pilot; and Capt. Arthur T. Bagby, 36, instructor navigator.

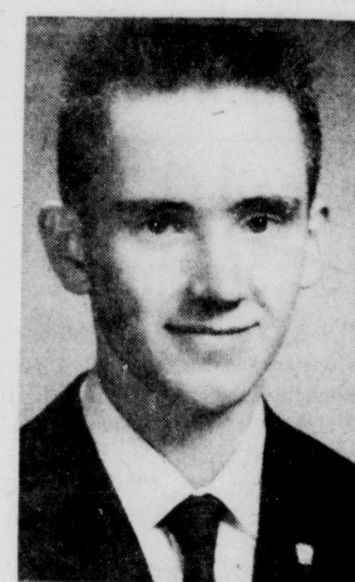

All lived in or near Columbus, Ohio.

The navigator, Lt. Herman L. Crawford, 25, of Pickerington, Ohio, was found walking along a rural road after parachuting to earth about a mile from where the plane hit. He was taken to an Army hospital at Ft. Knox.

Elusive Recluse Wounds Pursuer

Fights Off Posse In Oregon Mountains

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP) — Society's strained relations with mountain man Steve Solovich were shattered Tuesday by a bullet in a pursuer's chest.

A posse fought two sharp skirmishes with the elusive recluse on the forested slopes of Oregon's Cascade Mountains.

When evening fog drifted in, Solovich vanished—just as he has many times before.

An uneasy truce had existed between Solovich and Oregon authorities since he broke out of a Veterans Administration hospital nearly a year ago. Solovich, a mental patient, generally was regarded as a harmless eccentric who wanted only to live alone in the forest.

The truce ended when So-

Verbal Punches Traded By Mayor, Councilmen

Verbal exchanges were traded by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer and several members of City Council at Tuesday night's meeting.

The fireworks started after Councilman Albert Lesch (D-First Ward) said that load limits are now being put on state highways and he could see no reason the city could not enforce load limits on its streets.

"Trucks are detouring around the city scales by using city streets," he said. "A couple of dollars for load limit signs will go a long way." "We must protect our city streets," Lesch concluded.

Mayor Cranmer agreed that the streets are being ruined by truck traffic, but inferred that it was mostly local trucks that were causing the damage.

Councilman Carl Abe (R - At Large) said he had observed that only one city overload arrest had been made recently. Council President Michael Schuller said this was "no change" from what had gone on in the past.

Mayor Cranmer said he gave specific orders to city police to "bring in any truck driver who is off regular routes." "But negative results have been achieved due to the fact that the police under civil service do not respond to my demands," the mayor stated.

"Who's Boss?" Is Question
President Schuller (R) then asked the mayor "Who is the police chief's boss?"

"I am," Mayor Cranmer answered, "but you give them orders and there are only excuses and alibis."

Schuller ended the debate by stating that "in other words, city ordinances have amounted to nothing in this respect."

Alleys To Be Graded
In his regular report to council, Mayor Cranmer said that city alleys would be graded as soon as weather permits. Slag is not being used on alleys because it is washed by drainage. He also said that work street lighting is being pushed now that warmer weather is present.

The mayor said meters for the two new municipal parking lots will arrive by early next week and be installed. Lights have been in-

Police Nab Boy Killer of Parents

Class President Also Injures Girl

WEAVERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Daryl Moss, 15, president of the sophomore class at Weaverville High School, killed his parents early today.

Sheriff Harold Wilson said the crewcut, bespectacled Daryl also shot at a young woman who lived with his family. He missed, but then hit her over her head with a rifle, injuring her seriously.

Wilson said the boy took $24 belonging to his Boy Scout troop and more than $400 of church funds his father had been entrusted with and drove away in the family car.

Police captured Daryl near Redding, less than an hour later, and said he admitted the killings. In the car was a rifle he had used and cartridges.

He surrendered quietly and was questioned at the Redding police station, about 45 miles east of this Northern California town.

"I hated my father," Daryl told

Two Petitions Presented to City Council

Ask More Vacation Time; Committee to Plan Appropriation

Petitions for wage increases of 12 per cent for Salem police and firemen were heard by City Council Monday night.

In addition, policemen also petitioned for additions to vacation periods and holiday time off.

The wage increase petitions, identical but submitted separately by both departments, call for the 12 per cent wage hike based on a scale of four per cent per year for the three-year period immediately preceding the presentation of the petition. Respective petitions were signed by all 12 patrolmen, all 12 firemen and their chiefs.

A change of vacation periods from two weeks to three weeks for policemen with 10 years or more of service in the department was contained in the second petition submitted by the police department. A two-week vacation period will continue in effect for policemen with less than 10 years, the petition stated.

The second police petition also called for the provision of seven legal holidays per year for the patrolmen. These holidays will be Christmas, Thanksgiving, Easter, New Year's Day, Fourth of July, Memorial Day, and Labor Day.

Seven additional off-duty days per year for each member of the department was asked for in the petition. This would recognize the legal holidays with no cost to the city, rather than to ask for double pay for members working on the legal holidays, their petitions state.

All three petitions were referred to the safety committee of council.

Reporting on the finance committee, Councilman Fred Koenreich announced that the final 1960 city expenditure figures will appear in The Salem News in the next several days. He also reported that his committee will meet Feb. 28 for the first in a series of meetings to prepare the annual 1961 appropriation ordinance.

In other business, council heard second and third readings and then passed an ordinance to transfer $5,000 from the sewage department replacement fund to the sewage revenue fund to meet current payrolls and expenses.

Council authorized Utility Superintendent Aubrey Hayes to enter into contract for the purchase of cast iron pipe, gate valves, chemicals, fuel oil and other materials for the department in 1961.

A resolution submitted by Councilman Fred Koenreich was passed by Council forbidding the Service Director to enter into contract for

West Branch School Bonds Are Sold

West Branch school board members, at a special meeting Tuesday night, awarded the $150,000 high school bond issue to the McDonald & Company of Cleveland. The Cleveland firm bid an interest rate of three and three-quarters per cent, with a premium of $16,200 to the school board.

Sale of the bonds clears the way for the new West Branch High School building and construction of an addition to Goshen Center elementary school on Rt. 165.

The new high school is to be built on the Westville-Beloit Rd. (Route 173) just south of Beloit.

Voters in the new school district sanctioned the bond issue at last November's election.

STUDY ELECTRIC RATES
EAST PALESTINE — The Chamber of Commerce had members of the city administration, including Mayor Robert Harding and Councilman Robert Smith of the Utilities Commission, as guests at a meeting Tuesday to discuss the current light rate controversy.

There have been protests and complaints from all major industries here and more than 45 commercial users concerning the new light rates.

Ohio Senate May Get Measure Today

House Acts On Jobless Bill

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House acts today on an emergency bill to extend unemployment benefits an extra 13 weeks. The Senate is dangling before undecided legislators the prospect that the long-time unemployed could be collecting checks within a couple of weeks.

If the House, after an expected wrangle of several hours, passes the bill today, Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, virtually has promised that the Senate will take final action next week.

The situation has a few strange—even mystifying—aspects.

Asks Defeat of Extender

Organized labor, which has berated the legislature for dragging its heels ever since the Democratic-led lame-duck special session refused to extend jobless benefits last November, now is calling on lawmakers to defeat the GOP-sponsored extender.

And the Republicans who now lead the legislature, after weeks of saying they intended to await congressional action on a benefits extender, suddenly have decided they are going to pass their own bill right now, come what may.

Today, it is the House Democrats who are caught in the middle. They have a choice between people back home who have exhausted their regular 26-week benefits and now are pleading for help and the Ohio AFL-CIO which complains the GOP bill takes away too many rights of the unemployed in the guise of helping them.

Sure of Enough Votes

The Republican leaders appear cock-sure of enough Democratic votes—especially from the rural areas and small towns—to pass the emergency bill.

But, warns Mechem, if the bill reaches the Senate without an emergency provision, there won't be any hurry-up attitude on the part of the upper House.

It will require the help of at least nine Democrats in the House and six in the Senate to pass the extender as an emergency measure which would be effective as soon as it is signed by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

But that raises another mystifying point. What is the governor's position? He won't say.

He was obviously happy at Tuesday's news conference that the GOP has decided to recede from a provision in its original extender bill which would have required an ex-employee to have worked 30 weeks instead of 20 on the job on which his benefits are based before being eligible for extra benefits.

Likely Republican Decision

He also liked the Republican decision to open up extended benefits to those who have exhausted since last Nov. 1. The original bill gave eligibility only to those who have exhausted since Dec. 1.

Both these changes are scheduled to be made on the House floor today before the final vote on the bill.

Are the changes enough to impel DiSalle to sign the bill. Who knows?

The broad Democratic reaction to the GOP extender will not be known until this afternoon. The party's House members plan to caucus soon after the session starts to talk the matter over.

Labor, in a letter signed by Elmer F. Cope, Ohio AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer, told all members of the General Assembly:

"We respectfully urge you to pass a straight 13-week extension of the unemployment compensation period on an emergency basis and leave the other matters concerning permanent changes in the law for later and more careful consideration."

Overshadowed Other Matters

The unemployment extender controversy has overshadowed almost all other matters pending before the 104th General Assembly.

The bill-introduction rat race goes on—and probably will continue for at least another three weeks. As of the close of business Tuesday, the count in both houses stood at 823, scarcely more than half the record 1,607 introduced in the 1959 session. But it is not unusual for as many as 200 to 300 bills to be introduced each day just before the deadline.

The Senate has not yet decided, Mechem told newsmen, whether it will observe a deadline this session. In years past, it didn't, but beginning with the 1955 session it started to lower the boom on new bills the same date as the House. Mechem wondered aloud whether the deadline doesn't result in a lot of "cats and dog" bills which aren't even properly drafted.

Juvenile Delinquency Bill

One of the measures which went into the legislative hopper Tuesday was an administration bill to deal with juvenile delinquency. It would create a Juvenile Services Commission, within the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, based on a study by the Legislative Service Commission.

The bill is patterned after so-called Model Youth laws of other states. It provides that juvenile courts would commit delinquents to the commission made up of three members. Two members would receive $12,500 each and the chairman $14,000. The commission would have authority over delinquent boys between 10 and 17 and girls from 12 to 17.

The commission would prescribe education and training and would have control of the Juvenile Diagnostic Center, the industrial schools and the Bureau of Juvenile Probation Development.

The House passed and sent to the Senate bills to subject processors to the grain handling tax instead of personal property taxes as decreed two years ago, and to permit strip miners to use certificates of deposit in banks and building and loan associations as bond to guarantee land restoration. The Senate passed two minor measures and sent them to the House.

Would Provide Safeguards

Sen. Donald C. Steiner, R-Stark, offered a measure to provide safeguards in adoption cases handled through welfare agencies. Surrender of children to the custody of such agencies would require the signing of agreements in the presence of a probate judge or his clerk, who would inform parents that the acts are irrevocable. Agreements now can be signed anywhere without explanation to parents of their far-reaching effects.

Rep. G. D. Tablack, D-Mahoning, proposed a change in the law which would permit sheriffs to use unmarked cars and plain clothes while on duty.

Other new measures would:

Provide for lifetime driver and chauffeur licenses costing $10.

Require bonds for persons and firms issuing trading stamps equal to the value of the stamps.

Require the listing of burley tobacco crops as personal property annually on Jan. 31, instead of Jan. 1.

Provide local health board control over municipal or county air pollution committees or commissions.

Create Municipal Court

Create a municipal court in Mason, Warren County.

Allow mayors to reduce appropriation items as well as veto them.

The Senate received a resolution asking the Legislative Service Commission to study the feasibility of establishing a state police academy to provide technical training for enforcement officers.

The House Judiciary Committee directed a sub-committee to combine bills calling for annual highway patrol inspection of all school buses carrying eight or more pupils.

Patrol officials told a committee hearing that 20 per cent of school buses carry more than 119,000 pupils without inspections. The proposal would apply to private and parochial school buses as well as three-seat station wagons.

Legacy of Principle, Integrity

There was a time during the War for Independence when George Washington had this premonition of disaster for his officers in arms:

"If retiring from the field," he wrote, "they are to grow old in poverty, wretchedness and contempt if they are to wade through the vile mire of dependency, and owe the miserable remnant of that life to charity, which has hitherto been spent in honor then shall I have learned what ingratitude is, then shall I have realized a tale, which will embitter every moment of my future life."

This mental distress had been caused by a singular absence of public gratitude for the sacrifices of the military officers under his command and by an even more singular lack of understanding among the officers, themselves.

At one point in the dying months of the Revolutionary War, when Britain was losing by default, yet there seemed no way to bring the war to a conclusion, some of Washington's officers proposed that he let them enthrone him as a king.

There seemed no other way to them to reap any advantage from the insurrection. Politicians and profiteers dominated the government. The enemy had lost all inclination to fight, but the Continental Congress had lost all inclination to support the Continental Army, and its members were ready to call it quits.

It was at this time that George Washington met the challenge of the destiny that was to make him the "father" of a country that seemed inclined to dispossess him.

His great service was not his military ability, which was not outstanding and often was mediocre. It was not his political ability, which was exercised at all times with restraint and sometimes against his inclination to be as contemptuous of politicians as they had been of him when he needed help during the dark days of the Revolution.

His great contribution to the nation that now holds him enshrined as its First Citizen and pays homage to him as its only national hero was his flawless integrity. He had a constant aim to blend his life with the beginning of the nation—to serve it in accordance with his personal precepts.

The mark he left in history was that of personal principle, and it was to have unique effect. To this day, Americans reserve special honor for men of high principle and flawless integrity.

It is the most precious legacy left to them by their all-time First Citizen.

Congress Will Set Awhile

Everybody in Washington seems to be feeling agreeable about everybody else, now that everybody knows who everybody else is.

But one circumstance that wasn't visible earlier in this first month of a new federal administration is getting to be big as life as the days wear on. The journey to the New Frontier, which is President Kennedy's catchphrase for his program, is slow to get under way.

One estimate puts the number of ideas for the journey so far at 100, which isn't far off the mark. In some quarters, such as organized labor, there has been an inclination to line the streets to watch the New Frontier wagon train get under way on its long passage westward. But in other quarters, such as Congress, there has been no inclination to do anything but listen with close attention to all the ideas for reaching the New Frontier.

SOME DAY in the near future the journey to the New Frontier will get under way—no doubt about it. But there is no hurry about it, as far as the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate are concerned.

The American people and President Kennedy's administration are seeing a demonstration of the balance of power and divided responsibility in the federal government.

No one of the three coordinate branches of the government can create an atmosphere of urgency by itself. Two can create the atmosphere, as occurred in the early days of Franklin Roosevelt's administration, when the

Community Service

The Salem Area Chamber of Commerce, in a move to strengthen organizational functions, has named a group of Salem men to important positions of leadership.

Working as a team with the officers of the Chamber, these individuals, if they work enthusiastically, can make a strong contribution to their city through community service. There are many tasks to perform.

The perpetuation of a strong Chamber of Commerce is essential to Salem's growth and the support through membership and committee service on the part of businessmen and others is vital.

Once Over

Newton N. Minow, President's choice for new head of FCC, tells senators he is disturbed by wholesale violence on TV. Senators expressed own concern over crime blueprints on air and there are signs of a coming crackdown.

Things have reached the state where kiddies say "Mommy, I want my bedtime story. What murders are on TV tonight?" Video bumps off people almost as often as it bumps off its codes.

Movies do a lot of killing but for quantity production you have to take TV. Mortimer Topolover, who has kids of his own, declares "It seems to me that guns are drawn on everybody on my living room screen except Dr. Joyce Brothers, Groucho Marx, My Little Margie, December Bride, the McGuire Sisters, Donna Reed, Mee, The Press and Leonard Bernstein.

It is hard at times to find a program, outside of a weather forecast, where nobody is slugged, slammed and socked to a fare-thee-well. Haven't the sponsors got any kids of their own?

Even a sick midget using oversized gloves, stuffed with peach fuzz, could knock out his man in less time than it takes an airwave hero. My old lady has floored me many times with one wallop. But the motto of the TV boys is "Never let one punch do the work of three dozen."

Par for a knockout is multiple haymakers, several bar stools, a metal lamp, some jagged bottles and a kick in the stomach. The toughies of yesterday got there faster. Jesse James could dispose of a locomotive, two baggage cars and a mail car in far less time than it takes a TV baddie to win over executive department wrote laws and sent them to Congress for rubber-stamp approval.

But even then the balance of power continued to operate. The judicial branch failed to recognize the urgency claimed for some of the laws and rejected them as being out of harmony with the Constitution.

There is certain to be speculation about the effect of this singular absence of urgency about starting for the New Frontier. Will it hurt or help President Kennedy? Will it hurt or help the country? Will it put Congress and the Kennedy administration at odds? What will be its net effect?

Only the last question is answerable now. Its net effect will be to make certain that the recession, with its heavy unemployment, is not deepened by government intervention in private economics until the advent of spring in the wealth-producing areas of the country has given private industry a chance to rally after the severest winter in weather history.

The recession isn't climatological—not by any means. But the severity of the winter on top of the blow to morale delivered by wild-swinging campaign orators last fall, plus the tragic dislocation of industrial inventory caused by the 1959 steel strike, cannot be shrugged off.

OLD FRONTIERSMEN in Congress and out around the country who have been seeing these things come and go, man and boy, for half a century or more figure this is no time to set out on a long journey.

They aim to "set awhile," as they used to say, to see how things look in the dawn of a new day.

When they start for the New Frontier they will be a long time getting there. There's no hurry. A day, a week, a month will never be missed.

A pastor says there are no bad children—only stupid and thoughtless parents. Don't let Junior read this.

One of the best keys to success is the one that opens a safety deposit box full of government bonds.

Theater, restaurant and hotel men are now pledging selves to beautification of Times Square. It has been a study in slow motion all these years but who can tell? The area has deteriorated into a zone of honky tonks, horror films, shooting galleries, hotdog stands, flea circuses and carnival circuit activities. If beautification proceeds at same pace as in past the area should be cleaned up late in the year 1998.

It's Something Called "Peaceful Coexistence"

Writers And Politicians

By RAYMOND MOLEY

I was asked recently by a friendly editor to ask the new President to give me the run of the place for a few days and then to write my impressions of the similarities and contrasts between the scene in Washington after the advent of FDR in 1933 and now.

He suggested that there is now the same exciting action, the same invasion of professors and writers, the same proliferation of ideas of reform and rebuilding.

As an article of ephemeral interest, the result might have had attention. But I declined. Why?

Because I am vastly more interested in what is ahead rather than in what is now history.

One can hope measurably to influence what is to be but the past is a closed account. With its triumphs and tragedies, it must remain as the material for historians to do with as their various points of view may dictate. Let them echo "far off things and battles long ago." A journalist should stick to his task.

My friend's suggestion however did stimulate a few reflections on the current hearty welcome to scholars, professors and artists of various sorts to participate in the practical business of governing a nation. These reflections I offer for what they may be worth.

AS I HAVE SEEN the world of politics over a considerable number of years, those who give their attention to it may be divided into two groups—especially those who were significant figures either in the realm of action or the realm of written comment.

These are those who, in the midst of the rough business of practical politics, either as candidates or public officials, invariably turn their eyes with little envy upon those whose business is to write about public affairs. And then there are those who, in the cloistered security of the college campus or their studies or even editorial life, cast possessive glances at the seats of the official bureaucracy. Both long for what is not.

With the former group there have been Theodore Roosevelt, Coolidge, Alfred E. Smith, and Fiorello LaGuardia, who became columnists after their retirement.

Herbert Hoover has written extensively since he left the presidency in 1933. And Harry Truman as a senior citizen has been a historian of a somewhat dubious sort.

Even Edward J. Flynn, whose life as a political leader and the most authentic adviser of FDR was a masterpiece of reticence, came to me and asked my good offices in helping him write a book of reminiscences.

Then there were the many professors and writers who invaded Washington in the 1930s seeking, they thought, to create a new order. Most remained a while and then left, unhappy.

NEITHER GROUP really succeeded. The practical politicians little know the time and labor and sense of the reading public that makes a commentator successful.

Opinions alone are not enough. A well-known name has a short honeymoon. It has curiosity value. But writing in the competition of professionals is a serious business, never to be undertaken after another life has been finished.

Professors, writers, and artists find the climate of practical politics chilling. To be called "doctor" so-and-so is in itself a challenge, not to say a mark of contempt.

The atmosphere of politics is not what might be; it is what is best for the immediate moment. Compromise is in the air.

Those who inhabit the world of practical statesmanship look to the next roll call, not to the next decade, no matter how high-sounding may be their oratory. The next election is their horizon, not the world of our youngsters.

The neophyte discovers too late for his comfort that there are two worlds which are not easily bridged. We shall see in 1961, as we did in 1933, that seeming and being are not suitable for coexistence. This I suggest to those who seek a brave new world.

Singular Paradox

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Education Aid Proposal Needs Clarification

A singular paradox has emerged in President Kennedy's message to Congress on the use of federal money for education. While these funds would be authorized to finance scholarships to students in the college of their choice "without regard to sex, race, creed or color," the President says there would be no federal aid to "non-public" schools for construction or teachers' salaries at the elementary or secondary school level.

Mr. Kennedy points out that exclusion of church schools in the elementary or secondary school category is "in accordance with the clear prohibition of the Constitution." Presumably he is referring to the clause which says "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion."

It can be argued, if the appropriation of federal money for church schools at the elementary and secondary-school level is in violation of the Constitution, why isn't it also unconstitutional to appropriate money for scholarship grants or construction loans to colleges that are denominational?

Conversely, it can be contended that if it is constitutional to permit federal money to be used—as is being done by Congress already in the "GI bill of rights"—and as proposed again in the President's message—for the education of students of all religious faiths who pick their own colleges, public or private, denominational or non-denominational, then wouldn't it be unconstitutional to deny to the parents of students in private or parochial schools or to the institutions themselves federal aid at the elementary and secondary-school level?

Certainly there is a clause in the Constitution which can be invoked on this point. It calls for the states to apply their laws without discrimination on any ground. This is in the 14th Amendment and has lately received much attention because it orders the states to give "equal protection of the laws" to all citizens. Actually, the states are to administer virtually the whole program proposed by the President.

Under the President's plan for the college loan programs, federal funds would be used to assist in the building of classrooms, laboratories, libraries and related structures, as well as residential housing for students and faculty.

THE NEW PROGRAM is to provide long-term, low-interest-rate loans to "public and private higher institutions" for the expanding and "renovation, rehabilitation and modernization of such facilities."

Thus, it would seem that Mr. Kennedy does not intend to bar such loans to church-supported colleges and universities.

Nor is there any doubt as to the President's willingness to have federal money used for scholarships to 212,500 "talented and needy young people" who would be "permitted to attend the college of their choice," without regard to whether it is a private college in a denominational or non-denominational classification.

Also, under the President's recommendations, "additional allowances" are to be given directly to these same colleges—irrespective of whether they teach religion—"to enable these institutions to accept the additional students without charging an undue increase in fees or suffering an undue financial loss."

The First Amendment to the Constitution, forbidding Congress to make any law "respecting an establishment of religion," has been construed by the Supreme Court to mean that the federal government must pursue a policy of "separation of church and state."

This principle has been broadly interpreted by some constitutional lawyers to mean that the federal government cannot actually support the teaching of any religion but it has also been held by the Supreme Court of the United States that the "establishment of religion" clause does not prohibit use of tax money by the states to pay for the transportation of students to parochial schools.

SIMILARLY, the "GI bill of rights," under which federal money has been furnished to those who served in the armed forces in World War II and in the Korean War, has been generally construed as a grant of assistance to the individual and not as support of any religious establishment when such funds were spent in church colleges and universities.

To be logical, it would seem that operations under the "GI bill of rights" would have to be ended and all states forbidden to grant any scholarships to "talented and needy" students at the college level who attend church-supported institutions, or else it would have to be recognized that the taxes of citizens of all religious denominations can be used not only to support construction and building facilities in public schools but also in private or parochial schools at all levels, whether elementary, secondary or college.

The President's message introduces a paradox that needs to be clarified, at least insofar as the constitutional questions are concerned.

"I had planned to leave my estate in trust for Tabitha, the cat that has been my faithful companion for 15 years. But the poor dear passed away last week. So, since you are my only remaining nephew, I am changing my will to make you—"

"Our laboratory test of the glittering rock your young son picked up on his Boy Scout hike shows that it does contain gold. Based on this sample, we estimate the ore should assay out at about $74,000 a ton, making it by far the richest strike we have ever—"

"Dad, don't bother about sending me any more money. After I threw those three touchdowns in the last game, the university raised my salary. I'm doing so well now that if you need any help in meeting the mortgage payments on the house, just let me know."

"The X-rays show the cause of your sore gums is that you are growing a third set of teeth. They are coming in at a remarkable rate, and I predict that in another three months you should be able to discard both your upper and lower plates."

"Unable to reach you by phone last week, I took the liberty of putting you down for $500 worth of shares in Amalgamated Buttonhooks Ltd. As you probably noted the stock has since tripled in value and will soon split."

"As your company doctor, I am glad to inform you that you passed your recent physical examination with flying colors. You are now at liberty to eat as much as you like, drink as much as you like, smoke as much as you like. However, I have informed the management you have been working too hard and should be given a long vacation at the firm's expense.

Mrs. Hoskin Is Elected By Book Club

Mrs. Frank Hoskin was named president of the Book Club for the 1961-62 season at the regular meeting Monday in the Ruth Smucker House. She succeeds Miss Mary Herbert.

Other officers are: First vice president, Mrs. John England; second vice president, Mrs. Z. R. Taylor; secretary, Mrs. Ralph Woods; treasurer, Mrs. G. W. Smith; assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Robert Dunn; non-official, Miss Herbert; delegate to Salem Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. John King.

Mrs. Glen Bates, music critic, told some interesting facts of the procedure used in arriving at a decision in granting the academy awards. She told of the big success scored in a concert at Moscow's Tchaikovsky Hall by Violinist Joyce Klosser of New York City. She said a storm of applause kept her on stage almost an hour after her regular program.

Mrs. Lyle Biehler reviewed Raymond Bruckberger's book, "Image of America." Mr. Bruckberger lived in this country for eight years during which time he traveled from coast to coast, thought deeply about it and came to love and admire it.

The author gives his candid opinion in which we see ourselves through the sympathetic, critical eyes of a Frenchman. The heroes he admires are not, in most instances, the ones we should choose, Mrs. Biehler said.

Mrs. Walter Hofmeister, music teacher at Reilly School, presented a group of her pupils ranging from third to sixth grade, who entertained with six numbers:

"This Is My Country," "Grandfather's Clock," "Viv' L' Amour," "All Through the Night," "America the Beautiful" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The Book Club and the Leornians will hold a joint meeting March 8 at 8 p.m. in the Smucker House.

Salmon Rice Round, Party Dish

GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although canned salmon is not a budget item, it is the favorite fish of many gourmets. It has no waste, and when combined with rice and other low-cost ingredients, makes a reasonably priced deluxe meatless dish for party dinners. Actually, per serving it costs less than an equal quantity of meat protein.

SALMON RICE ROUND

(Serves 8)

2 tablespoons butter, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup minced onion, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped green pepper, 2 1-pound cans salmon, drained, 2 eggs, slightly beaten, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup lemon juice, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup soft bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper, 1 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ -ounce can condensed cream of asparagus soup, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cream or milk, 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish, 5 cups cooked rice, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup melted butter or margarine, 1 10-ounce package frozen peas, cooked and drained, Lemon wedge.

In a small pan heat butter and in it saute onion and green pepper for about 5 minutes, or until vegetables are tender.

In a bowl combine vegetables, the salmon, eggs, lemon juice, crumbs and salt and pepper. Press mixture into a greased 8-inch layer cake pan and bake in a preheated 350 degree F oven for 40 minutes, or until set.

Sauce: Meanwhile, in a small saucepan, combine soup, cream or milk and horseradish and heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally.

Toss rice with the butter or margarine and press into a greased 8-inch layer cake pan. Let stand in warm place for 5 minutes, then unmold on serving dish.

Unmold salmon on top of the rice and garnish with the cooked peas and lemon wedge. Serve with the asparagus sauce.

Two District Dairymen To Get COBA Awards

LISBON — The annual meeting of the Central Ohio Breeding Assn. will be held Saturday at 11 a. m. at Plumb Hall on the campus of Ohio State University, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Award plaques designating outstanding production performance and dairy herd COBA breeding will be presented to outstanding herd owners during the meeting. Marion and Olan Sanor, East Rochester RD 2, will receive silver medal plaque.

Several other Columbiana County dairymen are planning to attend, Myers said.

Parsley Dumplings

2 cups sifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 cup milk.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Add parsley and milk; stir only enough to moisten dry ingredients.

Drop dumpling mixture by spoonfuls on top of pieces of meat and vegetables in gently boiling stew.

Cook uncovered 10 minutes; cover tightly and cook 10 minutes longer. Serve at once. Dumplings will be large. Makes 6 servings.

Parsley Butter Sauce

(Yield: $\frac{1}{4}$ cup)

3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1-16 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley.

Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Cook until slightly browned. Remove from heat and stir in black pepper and chopped parsley. Serve over braised celery.

Note: One stalk celery is 1 bunch as we buy it at the market. A rib of celery is one piece of the stalk.

Your youngsters will like chocolate pudding topped with banana. For a pretty effect run the sharp tines of a fork lengthwise down the peeled banana and then slice. Dip the banana slices in orange or other citrus juice so they won't discolor.

Presser Denied Review of Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — William Presser, head of the Teamsters Union in Ohio, says his conviction of contempt of Congress was "brought about through hysteria and sensationalism over the growing strength of organized labor."

He said Monday night that he would serve his two-month sentence and pay a $100 fine "convinced that my reputation in the labor movement has not been affected."

Presser, chairman of the Ohio Conference of Teamsters and president of Teamsters Joint Council 41 in Cleveland, made the statement after the U. S. Supreme Court Monday refused to review his conviction.

The conviction stemmed from his refusal to answer questions and produce records before the Senate subcommittee on Sept. 17, 1958. Presser was found guilty Feb. 2, 1960, by Judge James W. Morris in the U. S. District Court in Washington. The U. S. Court of Appeals upheld the conviction last November.

Presser, 52, had been cited on five counts of contempt. These involved his refusal to produce personal records and union records of Joint Council 41. He also declined to answer questions relating to the location or possible destruction of some of his records, whether he had produced all the files and whether he had destroyed or mutilated any of Joint Council's files.

Small Steaks, Festive Eating

European chefs prepare small steaks, called Tournedos, from the marrow end of filet mignon. grill them in butter and serve elaborately garnished.

However, the American cook can make budget Tournedos out of relatively inexpensive cuts, such as chuck or round. The trick is to tenderize them in Spanish olive oil.

Chuck makes the most flavorful and tender Tournedos but is less attractive than round. A narrow rolled roast of top round can easily be cut into Tournedos a home.

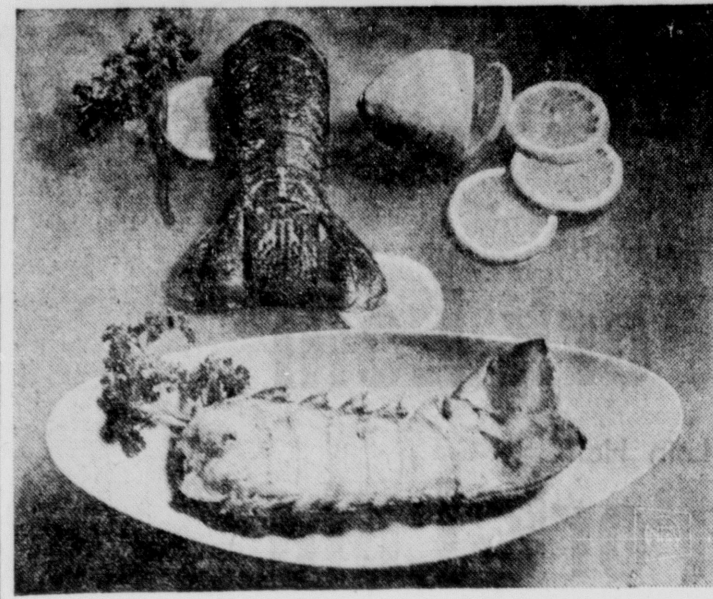

Cut steaks 1 to 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches thick. The smaller the diameter, the thicker the steak should be. To serve, slice steaks diagonally.

BUDGET TOURNEDOS

Cut chuck or top round (or choice grade bottom round) into individual steaks 1 to 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches thick. Punch holes in the meat with a large skewer.

Brush with a generous amount of Spanish olive oil and let stand at least 1 hour, preferably 3 or 4

Gently Broiled Lobster Tails

GAYNOR MADDOX

The two most popular ways to serve South African rock lobster tails are boiled and broiled. Unfortunately, many cooks OVER-broil the tails, losing the sweet, tender and tenderness of the white meat. Therefore, on request of many readers, we give the best method of broiling them for most delicious results.

To prepare, thaw 4 to 5-ounce South African rock lobster tails by leaving in the refrigerator overnight or at room temperature about 2 hours.

With kitchen shears, cut along each edge of thin underside membrane and strip off. With fork, gently loosen meat around edges of shell for easier removal after cooking.

Grasp tail in both hands and bend back sharply towards shell side to "crack" shell in three places. This prevents curling during cooking. Or, insert skewers through entire tail, close to shell.

Arrange tails shell side up on rack of preheated broiler, about 4 inches from heat source. Broil shell side for 2 minutes or until shell turns a bright orange-red. Turn tails flesh side up, baste with butter sauce and broil 3 minutes on flesh side. Do not overcook.

Rock lobster is done when flesh is creamy white on the outside but moist, tender and opaque in the inside. Serve in shell. (To remove broiled meat from shell in one piece, insert tines of fork through thick end and lift whole piece of tail meat toward back of shell.)

Provide individual bowls of melted butter sauce for dunking.

FAVORITE SEASONINGS FOR MELTED BUTTER SAUCE

To $\frac{1}{4}$ pound melted butter, add: 1 tablespoon minced parsley and 1 tablespoon capers, 1 clove garlic, quartered. Juice of 1 lemon or 2 limes, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon ginger, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon chili powder, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon aromatic bitters, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon each of chopped parsley, chives and pimento, dash paprika.

United's Golden Eagles advanced into the finals of the Columbiana County Class A basketball tournament by pinning a 53-46 defeat on the Salineville Indians on Tuesday night at the Beaver Local High School gym.

Class A Sectional at Canton. Three other Columbiana County teams—Columbiana, Leetonia and Lisbon—will be in the Canton Class A Sectional. They were not required to take part in Columbiana County tournament.

SALINEVILLE has been dropped from further tournament competition. Fairfield-Waterford drew a first round bye in the County Tournament since its 14-4 regular season record was the best of the three schools participating.

Salineville battled United on even terms for three periods last night before Coach Larry Joseph's club caught fire in the final canto.

United grabbed an 11-7 lead in the first quarter, only to see Salineville fight back into a 21-19 lead at intermission. The count was a deadlocked at 32-all at the three-quarter mark.

THEN IN THE FOURTH quarter, brilliant driving layups by junior Johnny Hanna and the work under the boards by another junior, Jerry Schaffer, put the game on ice for the Eagles.

Schaffer wound up as high point man with 17 while Hanna chipped in with 14 and Jim Ernst added 9.

Junior Jack Baker, the only non-senior in Salineville's starting lineup, popped in 12 markers for the Indians. Ronnie Giannone chipped in with 11 points and Bud Leatherberry added 10.

United and Salineville had met twice during the regular season with each team winning on its home court.

UNITED and Fairfield-Waterford also met two times during the regular season with the Rebels winning both encounters, 50-33 and 59-54.

United had a 6-12 season record while Salineville was 7-11.

In a preliminary game last night, the Fairfield-Waterford Rebels downed the Salineville Reserves, 45-36. The United and Fairfield-Waterford Jayvee squads will meet in a prelim to the varsity battle on Friday to determine the county Reserve champ.

Reed May Get Job As Big Ten Commissioner

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Reed, assistant commissioner of the Big Ten since 1951, apparently will succeed Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson.

The Big Ten opens its annual March meetings in Champaign next week and it is likely that the 44-year-old Reed will be recommended to succeed Wilson at that time.

Wilson, who for 20 years served as athletic director at Northwestern before becoming commissioner in 1944, will be 65 March 27. His contract, calling for a base salary of about $20,000 a year, expires May 1.

In the Big Ten, the general faculty plan for retirement is 65 and it is assumed the same will apply to Wilson who is also president of the U.S. Olympic Association.

Steubenville Boxers Win Gloves Bout

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three young boxers from Steubenville, Ohio, earned shots at the Golden Gloves Eastern Regional Tournament in New York by winning the Pittsburgh Golden Gloves tourney Tuesday night. A fourth Ohioan got to the finals before losing.

Winners in the senior open division included Robert Smith who knocked out Ray Casey of Pittsburgh in the second round of the 112-pound bout; Doug Agin who outpointed Howard Fuller of Pittsburgh in the 135-pound division; and Marion Connors who knocked out Tony Quagliari of Sharsburg, Pa., in the first round of the 175-pound fight.

Lamar Stinson, also of Steubenville, lost by a default to Jimmy Moore of Pittsburgh in a 160-pound bout.

Cleveland Blasts Seattle In NBL

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland can clinch the Eastern Division title in the National Basketball League tonight by beating Akron.

However, Akron has been no patsy for the powerful Cleveland squad, which goes into tonight's game with a 20-6 record. Akron has accounted for three of the six Cleveland defeats.

One more Cleveland victory will clinch the title.

Cleveland assured itself of at Division by defeating Seattle 130-115 at Berea Tuesday night. Ben Warley contributed 47 points to that victory.

Cleveland has eight games yet to play, and seven of them are away from home.

Morris Quits Reds For Post With Houston

CINCINNATI (AP) — Charles Morris, ticket manager for the Cincinnati Reds and director of Crosley Field operations, has followed his old boss, Gabe Paul, to a similar job with Houston's new entry in the National League. Spring Training Started By Cincinnati Hurlers, Catchers

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds pitchers and catchers started winding up today as the first arrivals for spring training.

The rest of the squad is due Feb. 27 for early workouts at Plant Field and later at Lopez Field.

Manager Fred Hutchinson said his pitching appears a heap better and added, "I don't know where you'd find a better bunch of promising youngsters."

"The youngsters, however, may get rattled in a crisis. Our job is to drill on fundamentals so thoroughly that our kids will do the right thing automatically."

Dressen Says Pittsburgh Won't Repeat

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — If anyone wants to bet a hat that the Pittsburgh Pirates repeat as National League pennant winners, Milwaukee Manager Chuck Dressen is ready to take him on.

The brash boss of the Braves not only thinks Pittsburgh won't win again, but he's willing to wager two hats that his club finishes ahead of the Pirates.

"I'll tell you another club that will beat out Pittsburgh," said Dressen today. "Los Angeles. The Dodgers will be the club to beat."

They got the best fielding, the most speed and the best pitching in the league.

The mystery team in the league, according to Dressen, is the San Francisco Giants.

"I can't figure 'em out," he said. "They've got a good team. They should have won the last two years, but they didn't. They made a good pick when they named Alvin Dark manager."

Dressen didn't predict a Milwaukee pennant but he insists his club will win more games than it did last year when it finished second to Pittsburgh by seven games.

Only Six Arrive at Camp

Airlines Strike Disrupts Indians' Training Plans

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The airline strike has disrupted the plans of several Cleveland Indian players trying to get here for today's scheduled opening of spring training.

Only six Tribesmen had arrived by Tuesday night. Of the 26 who were supposed to show up for today's early workout of pitchers and catchers, only a handful were expected to make it.

Among those expected was pitcher Wynn Hawkins, who ended his holdout Tuesday. Indian officials said the young pitcher agreed to contract terms, including a slight raise. In a telephone call to acting General Manager Hoot Evers.

There are now only two dissatisfied players. They are pitchers Dick Stigman and Barry Latman. Evers said Stigman told him he would be here today to discuss his contract.

The Tribe front office has wired instructions to players due next week, when full-scale training begins, giving them alternate routes to take should the airline strike still be in effect then.

4 Boxing Conspiracy Figures Are Jailed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Underworld boxing figure Frankie Carbo and three of his four co-defendants in a conspiracy-extortion trial will have to live in jail for the duration of the case.

The five men are accused of trying to muscle in on the purses of former welterweight champion Don Jordan.

U.S. Judge Ernest A. Tolin Tuesday revoked bail for four of them. Ordered into custody with Carbo are Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Philadelphia fight promoter Joe Sica and Louis Tom Dagna, Los Angeles gamblers.

The court permitted Truman Gibson Jr. of Chicago, president of National Boxing Enterprises Inc., to remain at liberty on $5,000 bond.

Xavier Coach Raps Basketball Officiating

CINCINNATI (AP) — Coach Jim McCafferty of Xavier of Ohio says basketball fans may have some good ideas to improve officiating at games, which he said has become poorer in the past three years. McCafferty told a group of Xavier partisans Tuesday that three ideas by some coaches have already proved unworkable. The ideas were better pay for officials, three officials per game instead of two and rules changes to make the game more like pro basketball.

Cunningham, Miller Star

E. Liverpool Squeaks Past Wellsville, 65-63

Wellsville High threw a scare into visiting East Liverpool last night, but the Potters' devastating one-two punch of Kenny Cunningham and Kenny Miller was too much to overcome as the Tigers were edged out, 65-63.

After trailing by a narrow margin throughout most of the first half, Wellsville spurred in the third quarter to take a 45-44 advantage. Then in a fast and furious fourth quarter, East Liverpool outscored the Tigers, 21-18.

CUNNINGHAM, a 6-0 senior sensation, tallied 25 points and Miller, his scoring partner, added 24. With one regular season game yet to play, Cunningham has scored 400 points and Miller has hooped 315.

Last night, Cunningham connected on his first six shots from the floor. His first miss came on a drive-in shot which rolled off after he had been fouled. He wound up with 11 for 20 from the floor.

The Potters were hampered by fouls last night. Miller, Mike Geon and Ed Prentice all left the game on fouls—Geon in the third quarter.

MILLER PICKED UP four quick personals in the first half and sat out most of the third quarter. He managed to hang in the game before being charged with his fifth personal in the final 14 seconds.

Wellsville closed its season with a 10-7 record. East Liverpool will take a 12-5 record into its final game on Friday at Weirton, W. Va.

Both the Potters and Wellsville will play in the Sectional Tournament at East Liverpool.

McDonald Cops TIA Tilt From Cortland

Inter-County League champion McDonald squeezed past Cortland, 53-46, in the TIA tournament at Warren Harding High School last night.

The Blue Devils will now face top-seeded Liberty in a semi-finals game Thursday at 8:30 p.m. Liberty won its game last night, 65-38, over Champion.

Liberty, which has lost only one game this season with a lineup dominated by tall juniors, defeated McDonald in a regular season game, 65-38. The Leopards are expected to move back into the Class AA division next year.

McDonald was forced to stage a second half rally to overcome a stubborn Cortland quintet last night. The Blue Devils were down 7-5 at the quarter and 21-15 at halftime. McDonald cut the deficit to two points, 36-34, at the three-quarter mark, then pulled the game out with 19 points in the final canto.

McDonald trailed until 3:47 remained in the game when Larry Cardiko jumped in a two-point shot. The Blue Devils got the ball back and immediately went into a stall. Cortland's efforts to get the ball led to numerous fouls which McDonald used to pad its lead.

Cardiko and Chuck Patterson each hooped 14 points for McDonald. Manning and Winters collected 11 apiece for Cortland.

New Water Safety Markers To Be Used In Ohio Waters

A uniform system of water safety markers is being instituted this year for Ohio waters, according to James D. Wells, administrator, Division of Watercraft.

"The orange and white markers will be placed on state waters just as soon as it is physically possible," said Wells. "They will serve to protect and guide both boaters and other water users."

Three types of symbols will be used. An orange diamond on a white background will indicate danger areas to be avoided by boats. A cross in the diamond will mean no boats permitted.

An orange circle on white will indicate a control marker. In the center of the circle will be printed instructions, such as speed limits, fishing zones, and the like.

A rectangle, also orange, will identify information markers. Printed on these will be directions to launching ramps and docks, and general information useful to boaters.

Salem Frosh Fall In Alliance Cage Tourney

The Salem freshman basketball team went down to a 40-31 defeat at the hands of Taft of Canton Glenwood in the opening round Tuesday of the Alliance 9th grade tournament.

"It was just one of those nights where everything went wrong," Salem Coach Tom Cope remarked after the game.

Salem had a disastrous third quarter, failing to score a field goal in 13 tries. Taft has a good ball club, sporting one of the best records in the Canton area. The winners shot 61 per cent from the floor in the second half and 44 per cent for the game.

Salem's poor third quarter brought a normally good shooting team down to 22 per cent for the fray. Bink Washington experienced one of his rare off nights, being held without a field goal.

Foul shooting was the only bright spot for the Quakers who tossed in 13 of 18 charity throws. Taft hit 8 of 15 tries from the foul line.

Spack controlled the boards for Salem. Taft got only 13 shots at the basket in the second half but made eight of them.

Shearer was the whole show for Taft with a beautiful turn-around jump shot from the key hole. He wound up with 20 points.

George Bagalla was Salem's top scorer with 7 markers.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

The long period of snow cover on frozen lakes and ponds may result in fish kills in some waters. Snow-covered ice or milky ice stops sunlight from penetrating the water, and water plants need sunlight to manufacture oxygen. And fish, of course, need oxygen to live.

As soon as the water clears enough so the shore line can be checked, you may see hundreds of bluegills, bass, and bullheads, dead of suffocation, in your farm pond.

ON LAKES like Lake Gullford, there no doubt will be dead gizzard shad by the thousands. That will be good with the exception of the odor of dead fish. No doubt Westville Lake will also have a tremendous kill of gizzard shad.

Just as soon as the ice begins disappearing and the gizzard shad begin dying, the herring gulls, tern, and other fish eating birds will begin to gorge themselves. The appearance of these birds is a sure sign of dead and dying fish.

Hawks Roll Over Royals

Nats, Warriors Blast Knicks' Tourney Hopes

By The Associated Press
Four of the National Basketball Association's six playoff teams already have been determined and the big question for the waning weeks of the season seems to be who'll get the last two spots in the Western Division.

The Syracuse Nationals and Philadelphia Warriors, still struggling over second place in the East, did a double job of eliminating the hapless New York Knicks-erobckers from convention Tuesday night. The Nats clinched the third and last playoff spot by conquering the Detroit Pistons 123-118 in the opener of a New York doubleheader. Then the Warriors added "positively" by downing the Knicks 114-112 in the second game.

The St. Louis Hawks, who backed into the Western title Monday when Los Angeles lost to Syracuse, celebrated Tuesday night with their 26th victory in 30 home games — a 126-114 decision over the Cincinnati Royals.

As a result, Detroit still trails Los Angeles by a game and a half with Cincinnati another game back. The Lakers return home tonight to play the Boston Celtics while a Detroit doubleheader sends Philadelphia against Cincinnati and New York against Detroit.

Philadelphia has a four point bulge over Syracuse for second in the Eastern Division. But the Nats have been coming on strongly while the Warriors' victory Tuesday night was only their third in 10 games.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Your Code for Gum Chewers was great. I wish you'd draw up something similar for "Dropper-Inners."

The type I'm talking about never bothers to visit the lonely or the convalescent. They always pick the busiest people they know. It's odd but the individuals I would really love to see never drop in unexpectedly — just the bores. Will you say something specific on this subject? — "TONTANT WEADER."

Dear "Weader": I've said plenty on this subject and I intend to say more from time to time. It's one of my personal crusades.

It may surprise you to learn that not ALL people feel as we do. Whenever I print a word knocking Dropper-Inners I get a raft of bitter blasts, especially from small towns. They scream "We feel honored when people drop in." I say the "honor" is all theirs.

Widowed Cousin

Dear Ann. Since we moved to this city my husband has learned that a cousin he hasn't seen in years is a widow here and she'd like us to call on her.

My husband wants to go but I am against it. She's about 38 and we are in our middle 40s. He says she was very attractive in her younger days but he hasn't seen her in 18 years and has no idea what she looks like now.

I say why borrow trouble. The arguments are getting more frequent and more bitter. He agreed to abide by whatever you said if I would write. I agreed also. What's the advice?—STUBBORN CANADIAN.

Dear Stubb: The woman is probably a perfectly harmless widow with no ulterior motives. If she had wanted to contact your husband without your knowledge she could have done so.

The battling has given zing to a situation which ordinarily would have had no special excitement. Grow up and invite the woman to your home.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Don't Sell Cat Naps Short

A great-grandmother, in her 93rd year, wants to know if there's anything she can do to keep from napping every so often. "I've always been able to cat nap at odd times during the afternoon and evening but now I doze off for a few minutes even in the morning," she complains.

Well, bully for you, as Teddy Roosevelt used to say. Have you ever thought that maybe one of the reasons your family continues to be blessed with your presence is this gift of napping?

Far from suggesting something you can do to keep from napping, I'd suggest you teach the trick to every one you hold dear. For, in my opinion, the ability to doze at regular intervals during the day is a most valuable safety valve in these tortured times.

Note that I emphasized "regular intervals." For, as you can readily imagine, there are great dangers inherent in catnaps taken at irregular intervals when you're at work, in class or driving a car.

BY REGULAR intervals, I mean preferably after the midday meal or before or after the evening meal. For example, the former is favored for the housewife after she has finished her morning chores and before she starts out for the afternoon session of marketing, shopping, calling for the children and the like.

The midday snooze is also favored for the worker or executive who has the good fortune to have a comfortable place to doze off—the cab of a truck or the back seat of a car, a shady spot on the grass, a comfortable chair or a couch in an office.

For those who can't take a midday nap, the snooze before or after the evening meal is the next best bet. Either way, however, it has to be accepted as part of the daily routine. Otherwise it'll never work or never be respected.

NOW WHAT does the nap accomplish? Well, for one thing, it breaks the working day in half. It refreshes in a way that has never been satisfactorily explained.

We know very little about sleep. It's possible that we have a sort of sleep center in the brain. When, as a result of fatigue or drug administration, that center gets a red light, it sends out signals that make our eyelids heavy and that cause us to yawn among other things. This signal probably influences the entire body.

At any rate, the cat nap, under controlled conditions, is a real blessing. And I hope our great-grandmother continues to indulge in it.

Engineers

Lines to vote for a single union as their bargaining agent.

Pilots outnumber engineers by more than three to one, and the engineers fear the ruling might lead to the eventual death of their union.

Goldberg has stressed, however, that the mediation board's decision in the United case is not necessarily applicable to other airlines.

Oddly enough, United is the only major transcontinental airline not hit by the strike. Its flight engineers are pilot-trained and some belong to both unions.

United and other major airlines not touched by the walkout indicate widespread publicity given to the strike has hurt their business. United, Delta, Braniff, Northeast, Capital and Continental all reported unsold space on almost every flight Tuesday.

In Miami, U.S. Dist. Judge Emmett C. Chote fined the Eastern Air Lines chapter of the union $200,000, or whatever is in your treasury, for contempt in failing to obey an injunction against continuing the strike. Chapter leaders said they had about $2,000 in a Miami bank.

stalled on the Pershing-S. Ellis - worth lot but have to be adjusted, he said.

Councilman Lesch, chairman of the garbage and garbage disposal committee, said that open garbage trucks have been spewing garbage and refuse over city streets, causing a sanitation and rat-infestation problem. The city has four closed garbage trucks, but it is the several open trucks that are causing the trouble, Lesch declared.

Mayor Cramer said that if he were given the names of the offenders he would take action.

Lesch, however, said he would not be an informer on the offenders, but that the city could easily see who the offenders are if they probed into the matter.

Authoritative sources said the United States also had offered helicopters to the Sudan to detect trucks that might try to smuggle arms through Sudanese territory to the pro-Communist rebel regime of Antoine Gizenga in the northeastern Congo. The Sudanese reportedly replied they did not need the helicopters.

Star. It did the trick last June with Transit II-A and a radiation satellite.

One of the string of 1961 successes in America's swiftly moving program to conquer space occurred earlier Tuesday at Cape Canaveral.

An Atlas missile launched an unmanned model of the Project Mercury man-in-space capsule on its most severe test and advanced the day when an American astronaut will take a rocket ride.

The capsule, streaking 12,850 miles an hour, shot 107 miles up and was subjected to the worst conditions an astronaut might encounter on a return from orbit. The spacecraft was recovered in excellent condition 1,425 miles down range.

vich began stopping hunters, at gunpoint, to accuse them of hunting him.

Five weeks ago, Deputy Gail Carnine began tracking Solovich. He finally crossed the trail Tuesday and summoned seven men to help him.

As they moved through the trees, someone suddenly shouted: "Go home, you!" A volley of shots drove the possemen to the ground, their rifles cracking in reply.

For two hours the fight continued. Bit by bit the posse advanced.

Then, Watson Talcott of Glade, Ore., fell seriously wounded.

Carnine and his force retired to get help for Talcott. Bolstered by 14 recruits, they quickly renewed the search.

They soon found Solovich—one searcher definitely identified him as the sniper—and the fight was renewed.

The fog shut off the firing before any one was hurt.

Solovich is tall and husky. He appears to be about 50. Little is known of his background except that he is a veteran of World War II.

Jack Hurre Winner Of Spelling Contest

Fifty-five contestants participated in the first trial spelling bee held Tuesday at the Junior High School. Seventh and eighth grade students were eligible to take part.

Jack Hurre, 7H, won first place, with Charles Cushman, 8B and Jeanette Crider, 7B, second and third place, respectively.

Miss Gerry Floding was the pronouncer, with Mrs. Jane Eckstein and Mrs. Tommie Largent as judges. Dave Hartsough, Lee Schnell, Gary Starbuck, Sue Bateman, Sue Smucker, Betsy Heston, Nancy Houger and Judy Durham assisted Miss Betty Ward. Joe Skrivaneck was the announcer.

In the near future, all contestants will take a written test supervised by Mrs. Nellie Horton. The top spellers will compete in future bees.

Leetonia, Palestine Coaches to Play Game

EAST PALESTINE — East Palestine coaches will take on the Leetonia coaches in a basketball game at the high school here tonight at 7:30 for the benefit of Donald Woods, the Bulldog football player who is in Cleveland Clinic with an arm injury suffered in a game two years ago.

With The Patients

LISBON — Mrs. J. H. Lippincott, mother of Mrs. James L. McBride, entered the Alliance City Hospital Saturday.

James King, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Esther King of Oak St., Leetonia, suffered a fractured right arm when he fell while playing at the home of an uncle Tuesday. He is reported in good condition at City Hospital.

37 Injured In N. Dakota Derailment

BUFFALO, N.D. (AP) — "It started to go up and down and buck like a bronco," said a stunned passenger. "Then it started to sway, and it went over."

The Northern Pacific's crack Mainstreeter, bound for Portland, Ore., from Chicago, derailed at 60 miles an hour Tuesday, sending nine cars hurtling off the tracks. Thirty-seven persons were taken to hospitals throughout eastern North Dakota.

No one was killed. None of the injured was believed in serious condition.

The train ripped up 300 feet of track and knocked down telegraph poles and communications before the derailed cars came to rest, partially buried in mud.

Dazed passengers crawled from the wreckage as emergency vehicles raced to the site. There were 51 persons in the coaches, 7 in Pullman cars, and 16 crewmen. Almost all suffered injuries of some kind.

The first four cars of the 13-unit train passed a switch about a mile west of here, but the other cars went off the tracks. Seven of the cars lay in the mire today, like a shattered toy train. The wreck blocked the Northern Pacific's main line. Company officials said they expected to have service restored today.

Wilson. "We just couldn't get along. I wanted to leave home. He didn't want me to."

Dead at their Lewisville cottage were Veril F. Moss, 45, a program engineer for the Bureau of Reclamation and his wife, Lois Elizabeth Moss, 44.

Jean Ann Taylor, 20, of Orem, Utah, was in serious condition at Weaverville Hospital.

Undersheriff Leonard Adams said "We can't understand it. The father was an elder in the Mormon Church. Daryl is the secretary of his troop and an Explorer Scout. They were decent people."

Wilson said Daryl told this story:

"He said he had been planning to kill his father for a week or so and finally decided Saturday to do it."

"He went into his parents' bedroom shortly after midnight and put the rifle next to his father's head and shot him."

"The mother woke up screaming. The boy slammed his mother with the gun, then shot her."

"By this time, the girl, Miss Taylor, was screaming. Daryl shot at her, missed, then clobbered her over the head with the gun stock."

Daryl was asked why he killed his mother.

"I didn't like her much either," the boy replied.

the purchase of a new pneumatic high lift for the city without further authority from the Council. Further action on the purchase of the high lift will be made at a later date when funds are available, Council agreed.

Another petition was heard by council on a proposal for the vacating of an alley in the southeast section of the city. However, the petition was vague and was referred to the streets, alleys and sidewalks committee for further study.

Councilman Arthur Hanna, chairman of the streets and sidewalk committee, reported that the city engineer has completed specifications on all projects to improve city streets and alleys. He then asked for a committee-of-the-whole meeting to allocate funds for the projects at the discretion of the finance committee.

However, since it will take three or four meetings of the finance committee to iron out the appropriation of monies, the meeting was tentatively set for March 28 to allocate the funds for the most worthwhile projects.

Treasurer James Criswell reported that the city may have to borrow more money to meet the February payroll. The only monies coming into the city treasury have been from the Mayor's court and parking meters, he said.

There is presently $47,000 in the general fund, but $27,000 of that is earmarked for the park fund, he added. If no money is received before Feb. 28, the city will have to borrow money.

Study Re-Routing Proposal

Mayor Cramer reported that he has not received an answer to his letter to Gov. Michael DiSalle on the re-routing of Rt. 45 question. The mayor's letter was an answer to a DiSalle letter questioning the city's progress in the proposed re-routing. Residents on S. Lincoln Ave. wrote him directly to look into the progress of the situation.

Councilman Koenreich (D - At-Large) told Mayor Cramer to write the Governor again if he receives no answer to his last letter soon. Koenreich said he could see no reason for the governor to enter into the matter when he has a highway director.

Councilman Hanna (R. At-Large) then told the mayor that he had been highly pleased with the city's highway commission that was in operation several years ago. He said the group, which included both he and the mayor, laid the groundwork in the field of highways improvement, and he would like to see the commission formed again. Mayor Cramer said he would look into the possibility of reactivating the commission.

Utilities Superintendent Aubrey Hayes reported that the water department plans to tie into the 10-inch water line near the water shop on W. State St. to alleviate the low water pressure problem in the northwest section of the city.

A new eight-inch line will begin at the water plant and run 90 feet west, then turn due north to be tied in with a 10-inch line that runs behind the city service department buildings. The 10-inch line runs under the railroad tracks to Elm St. and then south to W. State St.

Richard Cobourn, a visitor at the Council meeting, presented a proposed plan by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to improve community development. The plan, which will be an attempt to improve Salem, is to be conducted in three phases, Cobourn stated.

First, the Jaycees will run a survey of 20 per cent of Salem residents or 800 homes to find answers to pertinent questions concerning Salem as it is now and to see what improvements can be achieved in the future. Results of the survey will be published as the second stage of the plan, Cobourn said.

In the third stage, the Jaycees would seek to eliminate the problems found in the survey with the aid of Council, Cobourn concluded.

Council President Michael Schuller advised Cobourn that Council would be happy to work on such a plan with the Jaycees but said it would be advantageous for the plan to be formulated in conjunction with the Salem League of Women Voters' survey now being conducted.

Jaycee Bob Conroy announced the group's plan for student government day in conjunction with Student Youth Week March 20.

base of the tax, as Kennedy proposed.

The tax, now paid by employers at the rate of 3.1 per cent on a $3,000 wage base, would go up to as much as 3.5 per cent—but for two years only—under the plan tentatively agreed to by the Ways and Means Committee.

Unemployed who exhausted their basic benefits after June 30, 1960, would receive the extra payments.

BOY, 16, DETAINED

A 16-year-old Salem boy was being held by police today for action by County Juvenile Officer Cornelius Csepke on reports that the youth had been "bothering" a 10-year-old girl. The incident was reported by the girl's father, after the girl identified the boy from her school yearbook yesterday.
